7. [redacted] called to say he had met with Mr. Rednuk in the Immigration and Naturalization Service to discuss the Orel case. He said the INS people would not commit themselves as to an opinion on whether any court in a naturalization proceeding would take notice of the fact that [redacted] and his true name were not one and the same person. Immigration did express the opinion that they agreed to work with the Agency in the present case at court at the appropriate time. We plan to see Walter Besterman on the Immigration Subcommittee staff in the next day or two to discuss this matter further.
